IN THE NAME OF
FREEDOM OF SPEECH THEY ARE LYNCHING US. NO LAW
IS ON OUR SIDE
THERE ARE NO BOUNDARIES
NO-MAN'S LAND DOES NOT EXIST.

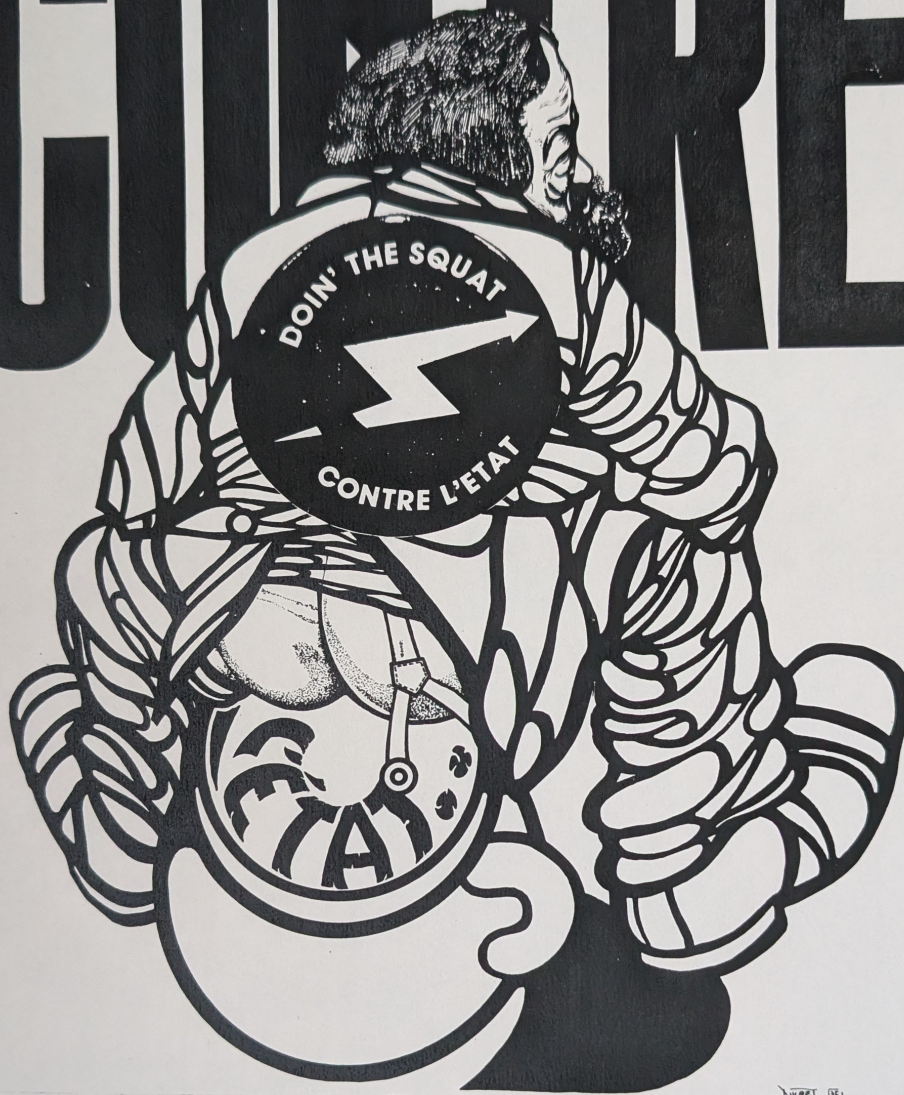

I CAN NEVER ROMANTICIZE LANGUAGE
AGAIN, NEVER DENY ITS POWER FOR DISGUISE FOR MYSTIFICATION
BUT THE SAME COULD BE SAID
FOR MUSIC OR ANY FORM CREATED
PAINTED CEILINGS BEATEN FOLD WORN
PIETAS. REORGANIZING VICTIMIZATION
FRESCOES TRANSLATING VIOLENCE INTO PATTERNS SO POWERFUL AND PURE WE CONTINUALLY FAIL TO ASK:
ARE THEY TRUE FOR US?

this month let a ~~smaller~~ be your food & shelter!

Father of four, including freckle-spattered twin boys, a vice-president in the Madison Avenue world, house, boat and yard man, 37-year-old Donald Goss is alive and well after 14 years of commuting on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. His only afflictions: a balding head and an occasional train-trait cold. Goss's competitive struggle to make it big in Manhattan begins weekdays while it's still pitch-black outside his Westport, Conn., window. Kids, cat and wife have learned the am. rules: out of his way, no important discussions; at sunup, Father comes first. Pales are also mandatory on the train, says Goss: "Have for window seat, block with your attitude case, don't talk to me before the 125th Street stop, and relax only when the train comes to a long halt."

DONALD GOSS:
 EXECUTIVE TRAIN COMMUTER

6:40 A.M.

David Bergdahl is fighting his way back to San Pedro after an eight-to-ten hour day working on rocket-propulsion systems.

7:00 P.M.
 "BLESS US, LORD FOR THESE UHH... GIFTS."

DAVID BERGDahl:
 LOS ANGELES
 FREEWAY COMMUTER

His house is in San Pedro and his job is 21 miles away at North American Aviation, Downey, Calif., missile plant. On the rare evenings when there's no traffic tie-up on the freeway, Bergdahl makes it home in 35 minutes. Like 18,000 others at Downey, he jockey his car out of the 103-acre parking lot, to crawl in bumper-to-bumper smug all the way home.

8:00 P.M.

"I WISH I HAD MORE ENERGY FOR PLAY AND FOR WORK."

"After nine," says Bergdahl, "I stop moving. And then often have to help Kay with Little League rosters and new letters or work on the zillion office papers that overflow in my box." Like most suburban parents of kids in motion, the Bergdahls go to bed early and try to get out to dinner once a week.

in the midst of death. darkness. madness.
 life enters into me. you, breathe fire into my world giving me power in which to live.
 i am, blinded by your force. and like an unknowing child,
 am pulled in by the burning of your soul.
 crawling, pounding, under the burden of your rightness,
 burning, searing your body into mine.
 bodies melt into one with the intensity of your heat.

KID, I'D BET
 YOUR LIFE
 ON IT!
